

CU Local Biz.com

Testimonials

Like many of you, I have been interested in advertising my business on the Internet, but I wasn't quite sure how to go about it effectively and efficiently. Before meeting Joe from CUlocalbiz.com, I had been approached by numerous out-of-town telephone solicitors who attempted to sign me up for their services. Unfortunately, I made the mistake of enlisting one of these companies. The end result: They got my money, and I never heard from them again. I couldn't track them down, and needless to say, I got no response to my various inquiries.

That's why I was more than a bit skeptical when Joe approached me about utilizing the services of CUlocalbiz.com. However, Joe explained the advantages of using someone local for Internet advertising, and one of them is certainly the fact that a contact person is always nearby. He took me through the process of creating a website step by step before I ever had to pay a dime, and then he worked with me at length on getting the layout and the information on my webpages that I wanted.

CUlocalbiz.com was there every step of the way, even helping with digital pictures and collecting relevant information that I hadn't thought of. More importantly, whenever there has been a needed change or whenever I have had a concern regarding my website, Joe and CUlocalbiz.com have been there to take care of it promptly and efficiently.

Additionally, I like the way my local, family-owned business gets its name mentioned in their own local advertising campaign. This gives me the advantage of not just being on the Internet, but also being given exposure via printed media at the local level where it's most effective.

The folks at CUlocalbiz.com have been very helpful, from start-up through and including the present. If you are ready to join the wave of the 21st century and make your presence known on the Internet, I would highly recommend you utilize the services of CUlocalbiz.com.
